※ (Co-payment Rate) A person who receives medical care benefits bears part of the medical expenses as below.

- Outpatient Medical Services: 30%–60% of the NHI, covering expenses (varies by medical care institution type and area)
- Hospitalization Expenses: 20%

- ※ (General Health Checkups) For office worker, general health checkups are available biannually depending on your year of birth (Annually for non-office worker). For example, those born in an odd year can receive a general health checkup in 2021.

Disadvantages with Nonpayment of Contributions

- (Restrictions on Health Insurance Benefits) Health Insurance benefits at medical care institutions are unavailable from the first day of the month following the payment deadline until the contribution is fully paid.
- (Restrictions on Visa Extension) Your stay in Korea may not be extended by the Korea Immigration Service
 - (Exception) The restriction on visa extension does not apply if the contribution in arrears is less than KRW 500,000 or if other collection in arrears are less than KRW 100,000.
- (Dispositions on Default) The NHIS may demand payment by the specified period. Where a person fails to pay the insurance contributions by the specified period, compulsory collection procedures to seize his/her real estate, automobile, deposit, and so on may proceed.

Disadvantages with Nonpayment of Contributions

→ The contributions in arrears may be paid in installments. The restriction on health insurance benefits will be lifted and made available once such installments are fully paid.

Differences with Private Health Insurance

- (Immediate Coverage) The insured is not required to claim benefits after receiving treatment.
- (Number and Amount of Benefits) The number and amount of benefits are not limited. * Beneficiaries pay part of the medical expenses.
- (Co-payment Ceiling System) The upper limit of partial co-payments divided into seven levels applies to the insured depending on his/her income level. The amount paid over the annual upper level is refunded.
